NGVA Europe starts with a new website!

Madrid/Spain; on Wednesday, 1st April 2009, NGVA Europe launched its new website.

NGVA Europe's new website provides valuable information on European market data, links to our different working groups and explains our political and technical activities, in order to better understand why the European NGV industry needs an Association to promote the use of NG/biomethane as a vehicle fuel.

Go and browse our member directory, which under different headings (field of activity and products or area of expertise), provides links to our members offering such products or services. Our website is, in this manner, a very useful marketing tool for our member companies. Furthermore, you will also find an overview of existing Standards & Regulations, which has been submitted by our member ENI from Italy.

This is only the beginning and our new website will be improved continuously.
